PRODUCT MANAGER

PROMOTED FROM FRONTEND DEVELOPER

- Led a multidisciplinary team of approximately five engineers across frontend, backend, and mobile for an international healthcare client.
- More than doubled monthly delivery throughput by decomposing large Jira items into independently owned UI, API, and mobile workstreams.
- Established peer-review practices, coordinated testing without dedicated QA, and coached engineers on architecture, maintainability, and technical debt.
- Translated client priorities and technical constraints into clear delivery plans, progress reporting, and production trade-offs.
- Guided HL7-based reporting integrations across multiple US states, coordinating field mapping, serialization, local validation, external approval, and release.
- Worked on privacy-sensitive laboratory workflows that separated patient identity from specimen processing and normalized heterogeneous JSON and CSV outputs.

FRONTEND DEVELOPER

HEALTHCARE + WEB3 PRODUCTS

- Built the initial structure of a Next.js NFT marketplace, contributing across frontend, application APIs, third-party Web3 integrations, deployment, and stakeholder communication.
- Designed and demonstrated a functional prototype that presented dependent blockchain operations for collection and NFT creation as one guided workflow.
- Contributed authentication, responsive layouts, Firebase-backed user data, and notifications to a React Native content-discovery application.
- Developed healthcare workflows for test registration, secure result access, automated notifications, and laboratory operations.
